Dear Raphaela,

I'll very much appreciate the first two chapters.

I want to rewrite them, eliminating much, and do that with the least amount of work for you.

I believe also that I should do that before I return to the preface.

I think I should delay writing the conclusion until I reread it after you have finished retyping it.

By then I'll have a better idea of the influence the book had on the so-called commemorations of the 30th anniversary.

Thanks, sincerely,

Harold
